History of virtual working?

Remember:

A big part of our civilization was founded on people working from home.

Today almost half the American workforce, spend some part of their life working from home

Statistics show that this is a positive development;

- It is more efficient
- It saves money
- Lowers attrition

How do virtual jobs benefit us?

Pros

CONs

Loneliness

Lack of belonging

Difficult to work in groups

Lack of facilities

Difficult to communicate

Easy to get distracted

Refrigerator proximity

In what way does our new situation make us more efficient?

- Productivity is increased (by more than 13%)
- ③ Working virtually is cheaper than having employees in an office
- ③ Increased job satisfaction
- ③ Higher retention rates
- ③ Access to better competencies and higher caliber employees
- ③ Easier to scale the workforce

- ③ Ease of planning and keeping a daily schedule without disruptions
- ③ Work on what you want, when you want
- ③ Helps us become more action and task oriented
- ③ Easier to juggle private and work life
- ③ Natural opportunity to do a lot of things that we otherwise don't prioritize

"Vores virtuelle samarbejde"

How can our new situation strengthen us?

Body

- ➔ Daily walks
- ➔ If you have a colleague that lives nearby, try walk-meetings
- ➔ More time to work out – and if the middle of the day works best, do that
- ➔ Play more with your kids

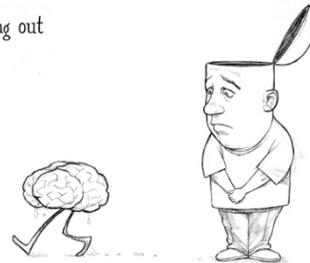

Mind

- ➔ Update yourself on subjects that interest you
- ➔ Initiate virtual projects, that can support your work when you're back to the normal schedule
- ➔ Write articles and other IP
- ➔ Read
- ➔ Meditate

Although it said it was only going out for a short walk and some fresh air, Ted knew in his heart of hearts that this was good-bye.

Hed never see his brain again.

Network

- ➔ Don't loose touch with your client. They have a lot more time on their hands now
- ➔ All of the people you know are stuck at home – make a list of those you want to re-establish contact with and get in touch
- ➔ Update your LinkedIn network

Call your previous colleagues and/or bosses and see how they are

Conclusions

Some takeaways

- ▶ Despite how you feel, you're not alone in feeling lonely
- ▶ Set up your life in a way that is conducive to being effective – space, agenda and planning, sticking to your schedule and avoiding those things that can take your attention.
- ▶ Take advantage of the situation – work according

Question

- ▶ How will this change the landscape of remote working, when the corona virus is gone?
